

Law et al. News is a legal news reporting organisation. We are India's first Comprehensive and Inclusive Legal News Portal with a pan India reach. Our legal news network covers legal news and events across the country through our reporters stationed at numerous locations in almost all the states of the country. We are focussed upon providing news content, researched articles, regular columns, features, stories and more to the legal community at large. Our endeavour is to address all members be it at the bar, corporate practice, judiciary or academia. At present we are available as a news portal on www.lawetalnews.com and plan to come in print shortly.

We aim to reach out to all legal professionals from metros to remotest districts of the country. Apart from covering important judicial pronouncements of various courts we also cover news relating to law firms, corporates and other legal developments relevant to business and corporate world. Our strength also lies in covering important local news all over the country. Law school events and moot court reporting also constitutes an important segment of our news reporting.

In addition to news content, we also have specific sections which focus on publishing qualitative and research based articles and columns. The website also has some entertainment sections where we cover lifestyle and lighter aspects of a professional's life and present interesting reviews of movies based on law related themes. Additionally we also bring to our users information about upcoming events, scholarships, jobs, useful legal blogs and book reviews both academic and fiction.

Having gone public only as recently as on 1st January, 2010, Law et al. News is marching ahead and we propose to extend our reach to every legal professional in the country in near future.