

DANIEL ALTMAN, PARTNER,
KNOBBE MARTENS OLSON & BEAR LLP (US)

Daniel Altman is a partner in the Orange County office of Knobbe Martens. He specializes in patent protection and related licensing issues for the biotechnology, pharmaceutical and chemical industries. A particular specialty of Mr. Altman's relates to the global patent protection and enforcement for developments in these industries.

Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Altman was a teacher for the Los Angeles Unified School District, where he taught physical science to seventh and eighth grade students. During law school, Mr. Altman was an editor for the High Technology Law Journal (now the Berkeley Technology Law Journal). He completed an externship with the Honorable Terry J. Hatter, now Chief Judge, U.S. District Court for the Central District of California.

Mr. Altman was an adjunct professor at the University of California, Irvine from 1992-1995 and at the University of San Diego from 1996-2007, where he initiated and taught a class entitled "biotechnology law."

Mr. Altman has spoken extensively around the world, most recently at Kansai Patent Attorneys Study Group (KTK) held in Osaka, Japan in September 2011 and at the AIPPI Form and Exco held in Hyderabad, India in October 2011.

Mr. Altman joined Knobbe Martens in 1989 and became a partner in 1993.